

We make real estate transactions easily flow from start to finish.

Company Overview

As an independent technology company, we don't just build software to build software. Our goal is to solve problems logically. For real estate, that means using data and insights to fuel decision-making for our clients and unlock an on-demand real estate transaction for consumers.

Fueled by Flueid

Working with major mortgage lending, servicing, settlement service, and FinTech and PropTech partners, we created a universal, patent pending digital solution for every market segment along the real estate journey. We are proud to collaborate with Fortune 500 organizations as well as startups to serve as the intel they need to deliver a definitive closing timeline and a much more streamlined real estate experience for everyone.
